Fine and rather cold weather. The maximum temperature yesterday was 62.2 and the minimum 46.4, the figures for the corresponding day last year being 63.7 and 52.7.

America And Britain Are One When Trouble Comes Declares Lord Northcliffe

Tells Peking Gathering Two Nations Must Hang Together Now In Far East Or Be Hanged Separately Later

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 17.—Lord Northcliffe in a speech today before a large representative gathering of the Anglo-American Association said:

"I am gratified to find in far-away Peking an oupost of the great movement towards Anglo-American unity, which has had such marked manifestation in the United States and Britain during the last few years.

"These manifestations are many. For example, the purchase of the Sulgrave Estate, the ancestral home of the Washington family, hidden away in the heart of little England, by joint subscriptions of Americans and British has given us a shrine, to which every year thousands of Americans and British make pilgrimages for the consecration of Anglo-Saxon unity.

"The presentation by the United States of the Lincoln statue to the national Valhalla at Westminster is another. The glorious brotherhood of the British and American Fleets in 1919 and 1918 shows the world that, when trouble comes, the English-speaking nations, whatever their trivial family disputes, unite as one man in the cause for which they struggled—for Magna Charta, sealed at Runnymede, in the long Civil War twixt Cavaliers and Roundheads in the 17th century, and in the great struggle for freedom, which,

Japan Controls Peking Says Northcliffe To Chinese Press

(Eastern News Agency)

PEKING, Nov. 17.—In the course of an interview between Lord Northcliffe and Japanese and Chinese press representatives today at the Peking Hotel, the following questions and answers were exchanged:

Question.—Is there no alteration in your opinion towards the Anglo-Japanese Alliance?

Answer:—No; this is the issue that affects the world.

Question.—Do you suppose that the Peking Government is under the control of Japan?

Answer.—Yes.

Question.—Do you expect that the Washington Conference will actually bear fruit?

Answer.—Yes, certainly I do; in view of the fact that the Powers are laboring under the heavy burden of armaments, they will no doubt agree to the proposed restriction of armaments.

All Shanghai Officials Are Invited To Auto Show

The opening of the automobile show a week from today will have an official flavor if all the invitations that are being prepared by Joseph J. Keegan, Honorary Secretary of the Show Executive Committee, are accepted. Mr. Keegan will send a neatly printed invitation to all the members of the Consular body, all members of the Shanghai Municipal Council and the French Council, the Chinese Advisory Council, and to many other officials, civil and military, Chinese and foreign, in Shanghai. The cards are to be mailed early next week.

In the meantime, preparations for the show are proceeding day and night at Verdun Gardens. Chairman White, of the building committee, had a big force of men at work yesterday on the ceiling and wall decorations, and as nearly all of the exhibitors had gangs of carpenters and decorators at work on individual booths, the showbuildings presented a scene of great activity. Representatives from the telephone company installed a switchboard with forty extensions, besides a direct wire to the French Fire Brigade headquarters. This means that practically every booth will have a private telephone and besides these there will be instruments for the use of the public.

W. C. Gomersall, of Jardine, Matheson and Co., Ltd., was out yesterday supervising the installation of the thousands of electric lights that are being put up in the several show buildings. Mr. Gomersall has a large job on his hands, for in addition to the lights he has to arrange for current to those of the exhibitors who are installing mechanical displays that are to be in operation during the show, of which there are a dozen or more.

Many of the exhibitors are fitting their booths with hardwood floors, to match which they are building elaborate and beautiful entrances. Booths in the London or New York shows never were built up with more painstaking care or disregard for expense than many of those that are now being made ready in the big buildings at Verdun gardens.

One of the chief problems of Mr. White and his contractors is the great dance floor that is to be part of the auto show. A big staff of carpenters is busy night and day putting this floor in shape. Small sections of it have been completed, for testing purposes, and while these are so smooth and slippery that one can hardly stand up on them in street shoes, yet the building committee chairman is not yet satisfied, and daily drives his Chinese workmen to still further improvement.

A big staff of carpenters will be kept on hand all during the show, to take care of the dance floor in the event that six or seven thousand gliding feet inflict any injury on it. A special platform is being built on one side of the dance floor for Frank Barron's Carlton orchestra, and for the entertainers that Chairman Leon Friedman, of the entertainment committee, plans to introduce between dances.

Chairman Hashagen, of the advertising committee, announced yesterday that letters would be sent to the taipans of all the hongs in Shanghai which imply Chinese, calling their attention to the auto show as an educational factor, and urging them to see to it that all the members of their staffs be given an opportunity to see the show.

MOB OF 10,000 BURNS VILLAGE CUSTOM HOUSE

Ten thousand villagers and fishermen from the surrounding countryside, enraged at what they considered the exactions of the salt bureau and Customs, burned the buildiings of the bureau and the Native Customs House at Ziang Ho Tan, Fenghwa, at 10 o'clock on the morning of Nov. 13, according to a report reaching the Chinese press here.

More than eighty other houses were burned, according to the report. The homeless people built temporary abodes in the mountain valleys.

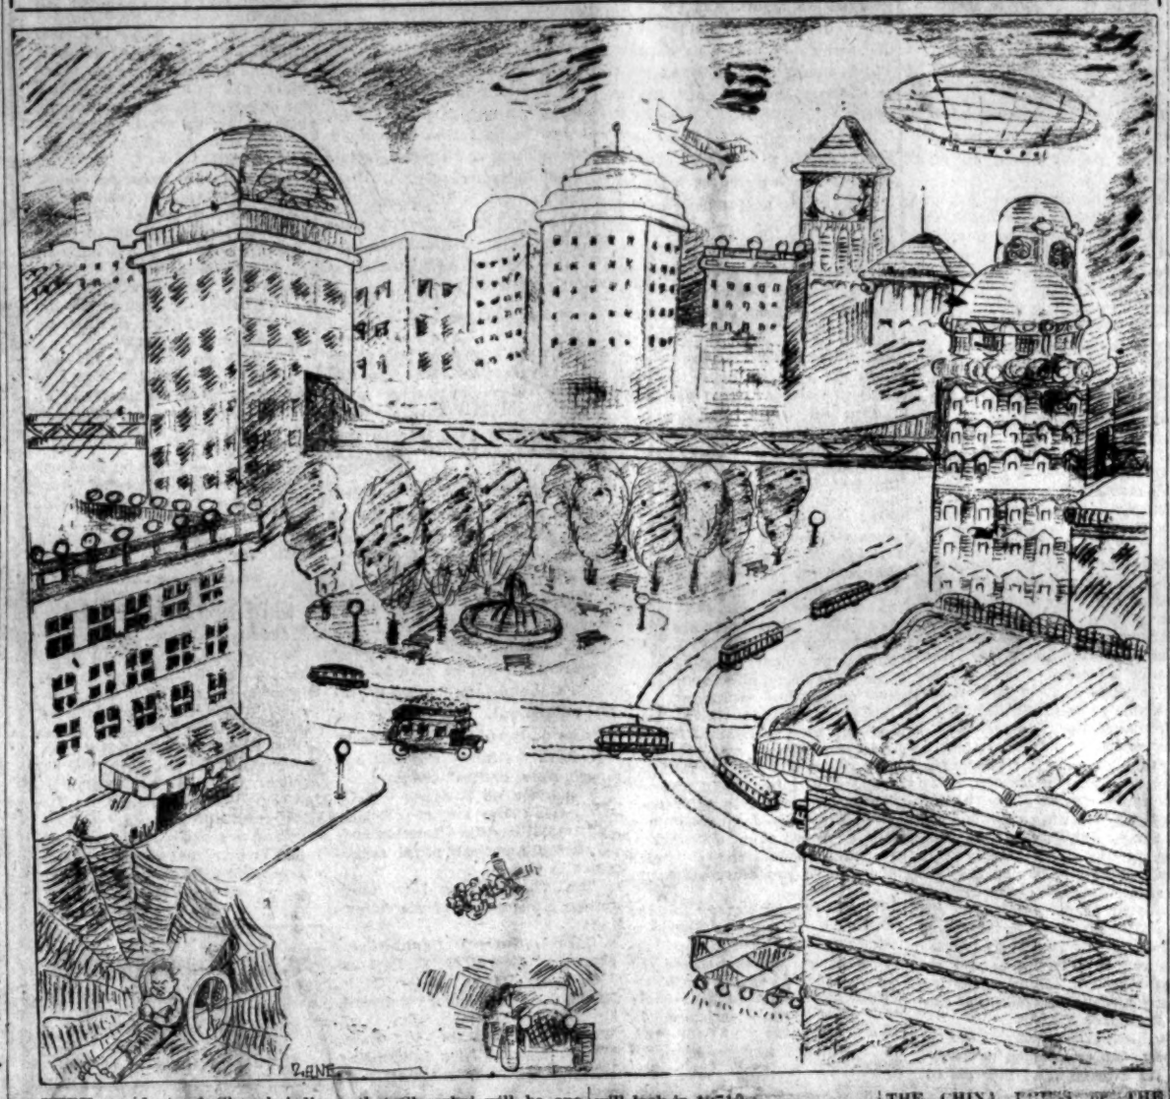
The Customs officials, it was said, had been warned that the incendiarism would be attempted, but were unable to check the mobs of angry men and women as they swarmed down on the town.

South Offers To Pay Chicago Loan

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Nov. 17.—Mr. Ma Soo, representing the South China Government, has written a letter to Mr. Hughes, offering to assume the obligations for the Continental Commercial Bank of Chicago's loan to the Peking Government, on which default recently occurred. The letter states that South China has invited the Consortium to submit proposals for renewing or refunding the loan.

Shanghai Fifty Years From Now By Zane



EVERY resident of Shanghai is interested in anticipations of how the city will develop, how it will appear a score or two score years from now.

Mr. A. G. Stephen, former manager of the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank here, and now chief manager at Hongkong, believes that Shanghai will be one of the world's great cities in 1971.

Above are shown Zane's ideas on the subject. Zane is the staff cartoonist of THE EVENING STAR. In the sketch appearing above, he pictures Shanghai as he thinks it will be fifty years from now.

How do you think Shanghai will look in 1971?

THE CHINA PRESS, in conjunction with THE EVENING STAR, offers to its readers an opportunity to picture their thoughts on the matter. Seventy-five dollars in cash prizes are offered for the best drawings and suggestions. Sketches, accompanied by short articles, should be submitted to the editor of either THE CHINA PRESS or THE EVENING STAR.

A first prize of $50 will be awarded for the best drawing and article. Second prize is $15; third prize, $10. The winning sketches and articles will be published in both THE CHINA PRESS and THE EVENING STAR.

Entrants should submit their ideas as soon as possible

LENIN TELLS REASON FOR ABANDONING COMMUNISM

Must Grasp Right Link Or Never Can Hold Chain, He Says

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, Nov. 14.—The following is a summary of Mr. Lenin's article on the retreat from the Communist program published in the Pravda (Truth) on the occasion of the fourth anniversary of the Russian revolution:

"At the present moment it is necessary to resort to the 'reformist,' gradual and careful method of action on the main questions of economic construction. The greatest danger, and probably the only one, to a real revolutionary is the disregard of conditions for the successful employment of revolutionary methods.

"From where is it derived that a great victorious world revolution can and must employ only revolutionary methods? This does not follow from anywhere.

"It is essential to know to pick out the right link in a chain at the right moment and to hold on to it by all means in order to be in touch with the whole chain and to prepare for a solid grasp of the next link. For the present this link is the development of internal private trade under state control and regulation.

MUST GRASP LINK

"We, the proletarian rulers of the state, the Communist Party, must grasp with all our might this link in the historical chain of events during the transitional stage of our socialistic construction in 1921 and 1922. If we can possess this link now, we are assured of the entire chain in the future.

"There is no other way of possessing the whole chain. There is no other way of laying

Tin Pan Alley Hasn't Got A Thing On Us Now

By Elsie McCormick

DEAR MR. EDITOR,

This little missive is just to ask you whether we're working for a newspaper or a canary-bird hatchery. Ever since you announced that everybody on both staffs had to write a song for the Auto Show, so that judges could pick out the best one, the whole outfit has taken up a training diet of bird-seed and cuttlefish and is trying to learn to swing on little trapezes.

Most of them are arranging the music themselves, even though they are not supposed to, and really, Mr. Editor, if you let those judges you were talking about in on this, the whole crowd will get about twenty years. We always thought flats were very scarce in Shanghai, until we heard this staff try to sing. We don't see why you have judges anyway, unless its because they are used to dealing with false notes. Which reminds us that the other day somebody told us that he was a man of convictions, but when we asked him how many he'd had and where he'd served them, he got up and walked away.

IT'S DIFFERENT NOW

But all seriousness aside, Mr. Editor, you would't know the office since this Auto Show song craze hit it. Instead of writing his usual headlines about princes losing their crowns and getting crowned at the same time, and other pieces of news, the cable editor is writing a song that is named, "He Didn't See the Other Car; How Natural He Looks!" and another, "If You Take a Girl Out by Moonlight, You'll Find That a Buggy Horse Makes a Good Spark Plug." The man at the other desk objected to this one because he said there were too many feet in it. The cable editor remarked that if the other man would only oblige by taking his brogans off the typewriter, there would be two less, but the man at the next desk was so busy thinking of his own verse that he didn't hear. He is writing one on, "You Can't Tell Anything by the Sound of the Horn—Down in Foochow the Sedan Chairs Carry Klaxons."

Somebody asked him how he expected to find any rhyme except "Saxons," which wouldn't be much good, as they were long-haired blond people who never owned automobiles. But the other man said he hadn't gotten to that part yet and he didn't believe in crossing his bridges until the new broom swept clean.

THE CHUG-CHUG RAG

The sporting editor said that he was going to crank up a Ford and get an idea for a new shimmy, but the cable editor told him that the Auto Show wouldn't be that kind of a party. The assistant advertising manager had a better idea than that. He has finished two verses and the chorus of his song, and they all go like this,

Chug, chug, chug, chug-chug-chug,

Chug-chug-chug,

Chug, chug-g-g.!"

Somebody suggested that it would be a wonderful opportunity to rhyme it with "hug," but the advertising man said that as far as he was concerned, it wouldn't be that kind of a party, either. Before the advertising man had time to finish all his verses, the sporting editor interrupted by telling the Mixed Court reporter that his meter was all wrong, and the Mixed Court reporter said yes, that he had suspected it ever since he got his last gas-bill, but he didn't see what that had to do with poetry. He is writing a sentimental song called, "Daddy is a Changed Man Now." It is about an old gentleman who used to love his Ford until he developed a taste for big cars by riding in the Black Maria.

NATIVE BANK GUILD TO AID PEKING ONES TO TIDE OVER

Shanghai Members Fall Into Line With Plan To Help In Crisis

Members of the Native Bankers' Guild have swung into line with the Shanghai Bankers Association in support of the local branches of the Bank of China and the Bank of Communications.

The Bankers' Guild at a meeting unanimously decided to render whatever assistance is necessary to the two Government banks. In addition the organisation brought forward and passed the same resolution passed by the Bankers Association, as reported previously.

The Shanghai Bankers Association last evening issued a statement to the effect that during the day there had been nothing approximating a run on either of the local branches of the two banks. The notes cashed during the day, it was said, hardly amounted to a lakh at either institution.

The local office of the Bank of Communications received a telegram yesterday, it is announced, to the effect that its branches in Peking and Tientsin, contrary to reports circulated here, were carrying on their business as usual.

SITUATION UNCHANGED

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 18.—The situation of the Banks is practically unchanged. The Banks of China and Communications are still technically open but are only cashing notes for small amounts. There is a gradual dissipation of the alarmist rumors owing partly to the failure of the dire forecasts of an immediate crash and also to the action of all responsible institutions in Peking.

SUBMARINE QUESTION IS KNOTTY

America Wants Defensive Arm While Britain Fears Super Ones May Be Built In Secret—U.S. Coastline Plays Part In Proposals On U-Boats

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 18.—There are indications that the submarine question is likely to prove a knotty point in any settlement of the naval limitations scheme. Keen observers on the spot in Washington surmise that Great Britain will agree to the complete ten years naval holiday in return for some reduction in submarine tonnage under Mr. Hughes's plan.

The reluctant attitude of America towards a limitation in size and tonnage of submarines is rather attributed to her naval experts than the general public, who are believed to approve Mr. Balfour's proposal, notably Senator Borah, the originator of the bill authorising the Conference.

It is furthermore declared that the British desire to strengthen the American scheme by scrapping the plant and material necessary for making ships and guns, except so far as is necessary for the repair of the reduced fleet or the replacement of an accidentally destroyed unit. It is thought that this will provide a solid guarantee and will guard against any power breaking away from the compact or springing a surprise on its neighbors.

NEAR AMERICAN IDEA

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 18.—There is a disposition in Washington to regard China's proposals for the solution of her problems as approximating very closely to America's ideas. The Chinese delegates deny that any white man was concerned in formulating their ten points but, according to one correspondent, it is recognised that "some of the language closely resembles some things used in American notes in the past few years," while another goes as far as to mention ex-Secretary of State Lansing in this connection.

It is contended on the American side that the point in the statement which bars treaties not communicated to China and not including her as a party definitely raises the question of the Anglo-Japanese treaty but it remains to be seen if this view is pressed authoritatively.

As to Japan's attitude the report goes that she may support the fundamentals of the Chinese proposals provide she can safeguard herself against possible boycott which would cut her off from vitally needed raw materials on the Asiatic continent.

It may be added that the Japanese have made an excellent impression on the Yap question, which is reported to be virtually settled, thanks to the co-operation of Baron Shidehara. It is also understood that the Japanese are much less stubborn about Shantung than was expected.

AMERICA NOT AGREED

Washington, Nov. 17.—The British suggestions for the limitation of tonnage and size of submarines are apparently unacceptable to America in view of the fact that she would have to protect 65,000 kilometers of coast with a heavily reduced fleet.

The American authorities dispute the suggestion that submarines would be more likely to be used contrary to the rules of civilised warfare than surface vessels. There is also little hope of America agreeing to limitation of the size of submarines.

WOULD END SUBS

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Nov. 17.—The New York Herald and the Times both support Mr. Balfour's plea for the abolition of submarines.

The Herald says: "Let every unnatural force of warfare be swept away even, if necessary, aeroplanes as instruments of war."

The Tribune considers that the Chinese proposals will disappoint China's friends and America owing to their indefiniteness and is of the opinion that writing a new formula will not help China much ultimately. China must be permitted to develop the necessary force to protect herself as the world is too preoccupied to look after the welfare of a perpetual ward.

LONDON ASKING TIME

(Trans-Pacific Public Ledger—China Press Exclusive Service)

London, Nov. 14.—If Balfour tells the Disarmament Conference that the British will accept America's naval proposals, London will be even more startled than it was by Secretary of State Hughes' first announcement of the plan.

The prevailing view here is that more caution is necessary, a more detailed examination of the proposal before positive commitment.

While sentiment generally is satisfied with the plan, it is realised that Great Britain in accepting will yield much and should therefore take time before deciding. However, it is pointed out that Balfour has plenipotentiary powers and can do so. The consensus of opinion is that final agreement on all but the details of the plan is certain as far as Britain is concerned.

JAPAN'S PRESS COMMENT

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Nov. 17.—Commenting on the state of affairs at the Washington Conference regarding China, the Tokio Asahi of today's issue writes as follows:

"Despite the fact that at the Paris Conference China presented her joint front of the Governments of the North and the South, in the Washington Conference no delegate of the Canton Government is taking part. In consequence, in the eyes of the Powers, China is reflected as actually comprising two governments that are confronting each other and as lacking in unificative administration as a nation.

"Such being the case, the extension of China's national rights and her cry for the abolition of special interests of the Powers have come to be the secondary question to be preceded by her restoration of peace and order as well as by the unification of the North and the South.

"But the question is how China is going to achieve these objectives. Should the Powers attempt to assist her to effect unity, there is a fear of their interfering in her internal affairs. This is the very thing to which

WHOLE WORLD TO BLAME CHINA FOR OPIUM CROP

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 17.—Correspondence between Britain and China, published tonight, with reference to the increasing cultivation of opium in China, concludes with a strongly worded British note, presented on June 30 affirming that poppy cultivation in Kansu and Hunan has enormously increased under the direct encouragement of the authorities.

It says that the British Government and people are indignant to learn of the gross bad faith displayed by the Government of China who are guilty of a direct and flagrant breath of their solemn treaty obligations to Britain.

When the facts become known the whole civilised world will unite to condemn the retrogressing of the Chinese authorities in permitting and in numerous cases encouraging the revival of the opium traffic.

The Government anticipate that this lapse from good faith will not be allowed to pass unnoticed by the League of Nations who have appointed a Special Commission to investigate the opium question.

Ezra Property Dispute Resumed In British Court

Trial of the suit of Ellis I. Ezra against Isaac Ezra involving a dispute concerning the ownership of certain properties was resumed yesterday in the British Supreme Court before Judge Skinner Turner and will be continued Monday morning.

Ellis Ezra claims that he is entitled, upon repayment to Isaac Ezra of certain monies, to recover from Isaac Ezra various properties known as Mohawk, Great Western, and Rue Massenet properties, which were transferred from Ellis Ezra to Isaac Ezra in December last as securities for an advance.

Defendant denies that they were transferred as securities but were transferred out and out, and only had the option of repurchasing them upon certain conditions which plaintiff had failed to fulfill.

After Mr. Reader Harris for the plaintiff had outlined the case and the events leading up to the present stage, Ellis Ezra was called into the box. He said that he was a brother to the defendant and agreed to assist Judah, who was his twin brother, out of financial difficulties.

Two of the properties adequately covered the security for the advance of Tls. 27,000 which Isaac handed over to him on December 13.

Judge Skinner Turner interposed after an argument regarding settlement that he knew that in a family dispute of this kind a settlement had been attempted and it was owing to an effort at settlement that the case was last adjourned.

Mr. H. L. Ward then took up the cross examination. He said that he hoped plaintiff realised the seriousness of the issue of the case.

"Your case is that your brother is deliberatly trying to take this property away from you and it comes to this, that one or the other of you is lying."

A letter from Ellis Ezra to Isaac Ezra was read in Court and Mr. Ward asked witness if the phrase "destroy you," used in the communication, was not a threat.

"Not exactly, I meant financially," answered plaintiff.

In answer to Mr. Ward's assertion that his occupation was that of a gambler in gold, silver, stocks and shares, witness retorted: "I have property."

Mr. Ward suggested that witness used his brother's name as security since his financial crash following the June settlement.

"Edward Ezra left Judah with a power of attorney when he went away in June: did you induce your brother Judah to mortgage your brother's property and hand the money over to you to carry the June Settlement," asked Mr. Ward.

"Not exactly, whatever Judah did he did it for the best of all—replied plaintiff.

"I think he went as far as to mortgage Mr. Edward Ezra's private house for two lakhs," continued counsel.

"Mr. Sidney Levy also held a power of attorney and cabled Mr. Ezra of the transactions," Mr. Ward went on, "and I suggest that he resigned from his position because you and Judah Ezra were robbing your brother."

"No that is wrong," denied plaintiff. Latter admitted that cables were received from Edward Ezra to the effect that nothing more of this kind should occur.

Referring to Judah Ezra's dismissal, plaintiff stated that it was caused because Judah got into trouble and not because he had been taking Edward Ezra's money. "Once again I give you the opportunity of answering my question said Mr. Ward. Was it not because you and he had been taking Edward Ezra's money?

"No," replied Ellis Ezra.

Mr. Ward suggested that Ellis Ezra had taken over the large reponsibility of two million taels of contracts for Judah because Judah had been gambling for him and also because the banks refused to give him credit. Plaintiff said he only did it to prevent Judah from going into bankruptcy.

While details regarding plaintiff's transactions with Judah were recounted, Judge Skinner Turner interrupted by saying that he did not think it materially affected the case in hand.

Mr. Ward replied "I am only doing it to show that it was absolutely false for this man (Ellis) to pose as the noble assistant to Judah."

Mr. Ellis Ezra, cross-examined by Mr. Ward, said his idea was to sell the Great Western Road property to re-imburse Isaac Ezra for what he paid out.

Your case is that although Isaac could have had a second mortgage of Tls. 30,000, instead of doing that, he takes on his shoulders personal encumbrances?—He had ample cover.

Why did he do it?—He did not want a bunch of creditors pressing him.

Counsel: In other words he wanted to defraud his creditors.

His Lordship: You mean if you went bankrupt your creditors would not be able to come in this property?—His idea was that he did not want any trouble with the creditors.

His Lordship: That is what you understood.

Counsel: In other words, in the event of your going bankrupt it would be a nice fraud?—I had no option.

You must know that he was doing something that would turn out dishonest?—All I understood was that he did not want to have any bother.

You are a business man. Did you understand Isaac Ezra to have other reasons, namely that in the event of your going bankrupt he could stick to this property and the creditors would have to get nothing?—My honest opinion is that he felt he was in a safer position.

What is a safer position except that his creditors would have no remedy?—My opinion is that in case of my bankruptcy he would have a lot of trouble.

You mean by "trouble" that he would get the property and not share it with the creditors?—I felt that he could dictate terms to the creditors in selling the property. In other words, he fell he was more secure.

The only bother he would suffer would be to hand over the surplus to his creditors?—I suppose so.

His Lordship: A lot of bother must be that if you went bankrupt and this property was sold?—He was very unwilling to make a loan except on these conditions.

Counsel: I suppose if you went bankrupt you would not at all state anything to the creditors?—I do not know what I would have done.

Were the whole cost of conveyancing, registration in the land office, transfer from the U. S. land office to the British office, etc paid by Isaac Ezra?—Expenses connected with these properties would be credited and debited to my account.

It is very unusual for a mortgagee to bear all these expenses?—Yes, it is.

You will agree with me that if it was a purchase the purchaser would have to pay the expenses?—Yes.

Did Isaac Ezra attend to the remeasuring of the land that he was transferring from the U. S. office to the British office?—Yes. He received notice and therefore had to attend to all this.

He has paid the Chinese crown rent, etc. since?—Yes.

In April of this year did Isaac convert Chinese houses into private residences?—Yes.

I am going to suggest that Isaac altered these properties without any reference to you?—That's not correct. I had the architects in my office and the plans were approved. There was a Russian architect whom he brought.

Your brother had to consult you as he could not do it without your permission?—Yes.

When did you fall out?—It was sometime in March, when relations between us were strained. He was pressing me very hard to sell my properties.

When was the bargain made?—It was in the middle of March.

Did you arrange with him that he should debit your account?—I arranged with him it should be before anything was done.

This time you fell out because he was pressing you for money?—Pressing me for money to repay him for loans.

And yet he arranges with you to spend thousands of dollars?—His whole idea was that he would not cost more than a couple of thousands of dollars. My account was to be debited with the small deficit between what he got from the tenants and what was to be paid to the contractors.

Did you know that the return of the properties after paying the interest would show a considerable loss?—I agree with you.

You agree with me that the loss that the properties showed is something like Tls. 9,000 a year, or Tls. 700 a month?—Yes.

When was the 16 percent interest to be paid?—At the end of the year.

How was the interest on Tls. 30,000 to be paid?—He calculated that Tls. 600 would be more than sufficient to cover everything. It was to cover everything. It was to cover the interest on the Mohawk Road property. What actually happened was this. He had to pay Tls. 1,700 interest and he wanted to cover all that.

His Lordship: Mr. Ward, I think you are putting questions to him that your client will not support you. Your client has sworn here to the Tls. 600. The witness says that it was a rough estimate of the figure. He also told us something in his examination-in-chief. I am pointing it to you that the two suggestions will not be supported by your client according to the affidavit he has sworn in this Court.

Counsel: Before this transaction have you been trying to sell the Great Western Road house?—Gutierrez offered me $65,000 at first and then later $73,000.

Further examination of the witness was undertaken at length, and the hearing was adjourned till Monday morning.

the foundation of the socialistic though it seems strange.

"We have retreated to state capitalism, but we have not retreated too far. We are retreating now to state regulation of commerce, but also within the limits of safety. There are signs indicating the end of this retreat. The dawn of a strong stand is at sight.

Native Bank Guild To Help Tide Over Those In Peking

such as the Government, Legations, Chinese and foreign banks, Chambers of Commerce, commercial houses and the press in Peking and Tientsin, which refused to be carried away by exaggerated reports and did their best in the interests of China and of foreigners to allay a panic which would be equally harmful to Chinese and foreigners in its effect.

Arrangements were completed yesterday for the handing over to the Chinese Government today by foreign banks of $300,000 of the Salt funds for the payment of soldiers, police and gendarmerie in Peking, the non-payment of whose salaries gave rise to the rumors of impending troubles in Peking city. The situation is still serious but there is no immediate cause to expect trouble.

AFFECTS SHANGHAI LITTLE

That the rumor which caused the financial disturbances in Tientsin and Peking has affected Shanghai but little is shown by the fact that the report of the Bank of China on Thursday night showed an increase of only seventy thousand dollars over the average daily output in specie. Nevertheless, in view of the necessity of reassuring the public, the branches of the two banks here have made arrangements with leading native banks to cash their notes at par in any quantities, and have also decided to carry on business on Sunday.

Several reasons have been proffered here to account for the runs in Peking and Tientsin. One is to the effect that on Monday, a handsomely dressed Chinese gentleman, alighting from a motor car, made inquiry in a small exchange shop in Peking as to whether or not they accepted notes of the two aforesaid banks at Tientsin.

On being answered in the affirmative, he expressed surprise and said that he had just returned from Tientsin, where the two banks had closed. He repeated this story to practically every bank and exchange in Peking and the run followed. He is declared to have been the agent of a rival to Mr. Kao Ling-wei, the newly appointed Minister of Finance.

Another, and perhaps a more reasonable explanation states that this is nothing but another intrigue of a certain power which caused the disturbance in order to substantiate a proposal of International control of China's finance at the Pacific Conference.

Owing to the demand for specie in Tientsin and Peking, and the recent purchase in considerable quantity by the Bank of China and the Bank of Communications here, the value of silver dollars is rising. The Nanking mint is now being engaged in its fullest capacity in order to turn out enough dollars to meet the emergency.

Reports are also current that consequent to the recent bank agitation, the par value of stocks of the various exchanges in Shanghai has dropped.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR SERVICES ON TURKEY DAY HERE

Plans for the Thanksgiving Day service which is to be held at Union Church at 5:45 p.m. next Thursday have been completed by the committee in charge.

The presiding officer will be Major General William M. Black, U.S.A. retired. The President's proclamation will be read by Mr. E. S. Cunningham, United States Consul-General, and the address will be delivered by Dr. Luther Freeman. There will be an appropriate musical program.

The American Company, S.V.C., will attend the service officially and invitations have been extended to the American naval authorities in port.

The Thanksgiving Day Committee is composed of the following:

Consul General Cunningham, chairman; Consul M. F. Perkins, Mrs. J. F. Raven, Major C. P. Holcomb, Commander Ransdell, Dr. Luther Freeman, Dr. S. I. Woodbridge, Captain V. Olsen, Mr. V. Lyman, Miss Lillian-May Wilkinson, honorary secretary.

WOMAN'S CLUB TEA DANSANT IS BIG SUCCESS

More than five hundred attended the tea dance given by the American Woman's Club Thursday afternoon at the Astor House and while the exact amount cleared has not yet been learned it is believed that nearly $1,500 was realised.

The tea dance began at 4:30 o'clock and lasted until seven.

The fortune telling booth, which was to have been erected for Miss Lily Johnson of Alabama, was not put up due to the illness of Miss Johnson which prevented her attending.

Many of the members entertained with large parties. Special tables included those of Mrs. C. S. Lobingier, Mrs. E. S. Cunningham, Mrs. F. J. Raven, Mrs. W. L. Merriman, Mrs. J. T. Hammond, Mrs. M. F. Perkins, Mrs. G. M. Thomas, Mrs. Percy Bryant, Mrs. T. B. Dunn, Mrs. P. E. Mann, and Mrs. J. J. Keegan.

Much credit is due the committee for the great success of the affair. The club extends its appreciation also to the Astor House management and the Astor House orchestra.

The boxes of home made candy which were sold under the direction of Mrs. James MacDonell were very popular and a large sum was realised from the sale of the candy.

tea this afternoon and bringing back our bottle of glue which seems to stick to everybody in the office except us, we heard him murmur,

"Hab got great big auto show. Ebiebody office wantchee go. Ebiebody steppee alound dance floor,

Maybe my catchee one Ford cumshaw.

Chorus: Honk! Honk! Please talkee can do!"

The office ricsha coolies have joined in, too. One of them is working on a verse about "Ricsha Makee People Happy, but Motor Makee Crank."

So you see how it is, Mr. Editor, everybody is playing his typewriter in jazz-time and the strain on our shoulders is awful. Virginia Adams' canary has taken to fox-trotting around its cage and the officeboys all do the Scandal Walk when they come to get our copy.

Tomorrow the rest of the staff says that they are going to move in half a dozen pianos so that they can pick out some tunes with one finger, and we told them that most of the melodies sounded so weak that one finger would be ample to move them, and that they probably would be out. We are glad you are going to have the music written by other people, because otherwise we would resign and get a position writing society notes on the Gobi desert.

So you see, Mr. Editor, just what comes of telling some people that you will put the words of their songs in the paper and have the best one played at the Auto Show and made into a phonograph record. By the way, Mr. Editor, what is the prize to be? We understand that the winner will be allowed to order one bottle of ginger-ale, provided he signs a chit for it.

Hoping that you don't have another bright idea for a long time we remain, for the present at least,

THE LADY FEATURE WRITER

P.S. The nice gray-haired reporter who just came in told us that in his verse he was going to use Iambic Hexameter, and we told him to go ahead and use it, but that as we didn't know much about those new makes, we were going to stick to the Buick.

P. S. II Do you happen to know of a rhyme for 'Buick!' sick or tunic might serve.]

Aglen Will Urge Customs Increase At The Conference?

The proposal recently made by Sir Francis Aglen, Director General of Customs, advocating the two percent increase of Customs duties has, according to news from Chinese sources, met with sympathetic approval among friendly nations. It is estimated that after the enforcement of this new rule, there will be an annual increase of twelve million taels, which will be reserved as security for the raising of a big internal loan for the refunding and liquidation of all previous government loans.

It is reported that Sir Francis Aglen is sailing for Washington today in order to bring to the Conference the question of revising China's tariff to the same standard as that of other nations. The report also states that China is prepared to propose to the Conference the abolition of the five hundred likins throughout the country, which are now yielding an annual income of over forty million taels to the government treasury.

Boundary Dispute Simmering Down

The dispute over the boundary and road line at Fusan Road in Chapei was relieved somewhat yesterday when it was learned that the question of foreign ownership of land involved removed most of the objections of the Chinese organisations in Chapei.

It appears that a large tract, owned by a British firm, was being cut with a new road of access. Under an arrangement with the Municipality the road was to connect with the foreign settlement road system.

The climax of the quarrel, between the various factions was reached when an armed guard forced the Public Works Department coolies to leave the work, and later the guard removed the road stones already in place and set up new ones bearing the words "Chapei Municipal Council Road." The Municipal Council followed this action with a police guard on the work. Since that time no trouble has been experienced with the coolies. However, the several native organisations in the district have protested the so-called encroachment of their rights, only to learn that the property was foreign owned.

PREMATURE SAYS CHEN OF DR. SUN'S MARCH ON NORTH

(Eastern News Agency)

Canton, Nov. 17.—Since his return here, General Chen Chiung-ming is persistently advocating in foreign and Chinese circles that the projected Northern expedition is too premature, and particularly after his recent interview with the delegate of General Wu Pei-fu, he has come to realise the danger in connection with Dr. Sun's scheme to subjugate General Wu Pei-fu.

General Chen is, it is reported, rather of the opinion that it would be a good policy at this juncture to ask General Wu to reconsider and to act in concert with the South with a view to establishing the foundation for the realisation of national unity and the self-government of federated provinces by overthrowing the Peking Government. In case General Wu should not take such advice, it then would be time for the Northern expedition to be carried out.

Nevertheless, Dr. Sun Yat-sen intends to carry out the original plan with 50,000 troops, under the command of Generals Hsu Chung-chih, Li Lieh-chun, Huang Ta-wei and Li Fook-lin, without calling upon the troops under General Chen Chiung-ming.

The strategy on the part of the South is to have General Chen Shu-fan of Shensi and the "people's army" of Hupeh cut the railway traffic between Peking and Hankow, to enable the Szechuenese troops to advance again as far as Ichang and thus to help effect the invasion of Hunan by the Cantonese expeditionary force.

As for military funds, $500,000 has already been received from Ma Chun-wu, Civil Governor of Kwangsi, and $1,000,000 from the Salt Administration Office in addition to military-notes to the amount of $2,000,000.

PLAN $10,000,000 FUND

(Kuo Wen News Agency)

Peking, Nov. 17.—General Wu Pei-fu and General Tsao Kun are discussing the raising of $10,000,000 as funds for the campaign against Canton. $6,000,000 will be raised in Hupeh and the remainder in Chihli by the increasing of taxes, and the issuance of national bonds and copper cents.

General Tsao Kun is planning to send General Chao Yu-ao to Tehchow, Shantung, with a brigade of troops. Though Chao will be given the title of Commissioner for Precautionary Measures his real motive is to take over the Military Governorship of Shantung.

CHEN GETS BUSY

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 15.—General Chen Kuang-yuan appears to be alarmed at the prospect of the Southern expedition materialising. He now telegraphs to the Government that the South has abandoned the plan of attacking Hunan and is concentrating its activities against Kiangsi. General Chen adds that he has organised two special detachments (he does not say of what strength) under Generals Hsiao An-kuo, to defend Pingsiang.

WANTS TROOPS MOVED

Peking, Nov. 15.—General Tsao Kun suggests the transfer of General Chiang Kwei-ti's troops to the southern section of Honan owing to the fact that most of the Chihli troops are now stationed on the borders of Hupeh and Szechuen thus leaving the southern section of the Peking-Hankow railway unguarded.

The celebration of the birthday of General Tsao Kun is to be attended by a number of influential military leaders. President Hsu has nominated as his representative General Chiang Ting-tze. The opinion is growing that the results of the conference following the birthday festivities will be important. General Chiang also carries to Paotingfu a congratulatory message from President Hsu regarding the recent operations in the Yangtze under General Wu Pei-fu to whom this message will be given.

FOUR NEW SHIPS ON TRANS-PACIFIC RUN VERY SOON

Proof of renewed life in trans-Pacific shipping was given yesterday with the announcement of the approximate sailing dates of four new 9,000-ton cargo steamers to run between Portland, Oregon, and Shanghai. The service here will be under the management of the China Pacific Company, and according to a statement by Mr. C. L. Seitz, the manager of the company, the first of the vessels will clear from the Pacific Coast during December.

The four steamers that will be placed on the new run are the Hector, Nells Neilson, Luise Neilson and the Hanna Neilson. All are sister ships, coal burning and are said to be equipped for speedy cargo service. They are registered under the Norwegian flag.

"I have very great confidence of renewed activity in business in the Spring," Mr. Seitz said yesterday, "The direct Portland-Shanghai service that we have outlined is necessary, we believe, to properly care for the timber shipments and general merchandise cargoes from the Pacific coast to North China ports."

Mr. Seitz said yesterday that he would leave on Tuesday for Portland and San Francisco to complete the arrangements for the sailings and later proceed to New York, returning to Shanghai during February.

"There are very strong indications now of new vigor in shipping, and I firmly believe," Mr. Seitz said, "that during the next six months we will see a revival of export trade.

"The new line will be independent of our American Shipping Board vessel, and will not be operated in competition with them.

"Shanghai, of course, will be the first port of call; then the route will be North, returning to Portland direct. All of the vessels are under the Norwegian flag, and I am sure they will be able to give a very efficient and speedy freight service."

Mr. Seitz continued to say that the vessels would not only carry bulk timber cargoes but would be equipped to handle general merchandise shipments from the rail terminals of the North Pacific Coast.

The China-Pacific Company is affiliated with the China Import and Export Lumber Company. In addition to the arrangements for the line of steamers, Mr. Seitz said he would carry with him details for the plans of a new re-enforced concrete mill building and the installation of modern machinery and equipment.

FLAT WALL FINISH
A perfect Paint of smooth surface for Interior Wall Coating

The surface obtainable with this paint is smooth and flat, i.e., it is not a grainy, dead, lifeless finish, but of a velvety texture. It dries in a reasonably quick time, so that work can be carried out effectively, yet has the property of remaining open long enough to enable the worker to cover a large surface of wall without making laps or edges.
Excellent results with Super Durable Flat Finish are easily obtained, irrespective of the skill of the user, and an elaborate preparation of the surface is usually quite unnecessary.
Super Durable Flat Finish has been tried on non-absorbent surfaces of all kinds and where distemper and oil paint have proved prone to shell or flake off, it has always adhered. It gives a lasting finish of surprising beauty.

Seven Records Fall In School Trials At Amoy

Tests For 2nd South Fukien Championships Bring Out Good Marks

(China Press Correspondence)

Amoy, Nov. 5.—Seven track and field records were broken here in the last two days in the trouts to select men to represent South Fukien in the Second Fukien Provincial championships at Foochow, Nov. 18 to 23.

Amoy feels better than she did several weeks ago. The group in charge of the meet in Foochow this year wrote that the Amoy Y.M.C.A., a leading point getter last year was to be barred. Since the meet on Thursday and Friday, however, Amoy's hopes have soared and they think there may be a chance of repeating last year's victory over Foochow and North Fukien.

Last year South Fukien defeated North Fukien 104 1/2 to 21 1/2 points in Track and Field, and an Amoy school, Talmage College, won the first leg on the big $150 track and field trophy presented by the Governor. Amoy also won in volleyball and football and were ahead when the basketball game was called on account of darkness. Of Foochow's 65 athletes the only successful ones were the tennis players and 3 track and field men.

East China College Game Is O-O Tie; Game Tomorrow

Nanking, Nov. 17.—The first game of the E.C.I.A.A. football season between Nanking and Nanyang was played on the University of Nanking field Thursday afternoon and resulted in a tie, 0 to 0.

It was evident all through the game that the teams were evenly matched, although strong in different points of the game. Nanking had a strong backfield, but Nanyang had superior forwards. The Nanking players were taller and heavier, but were outclassed by the Nanyang men in speed.

Nanyang will play the Southeastern University today and may stay to play off the tie with Nanking on Monday.

RACES TODAY ARE PLANNED TO GIVE A VARIED INTEREST

Liability Is Fancied For The Steeplechase Handicap Feature

The Sixth Extra Race Meeting of the Shanghai Race Club commencing at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, promises an excellent program of racing. The card includes a hurdle, a handicap steeplechase, two running handicaps, and four other races.

Interest perhaps will center on the second event, the Kentucky steeplechase, two running handi-Handicap Steeplechase, scheduled to run over Morris' Water Jump, twice around the track and in. Four horses are entered: Liability, Djemnah, Wild Cat and Wild Chance. The talent favors Liability's chances for the race, with Djemnah in spite of its weight, and Wild Cat contending for second and third positions.

The Hurdle race, the first event is for China ponies that have never yet won a Hurdle. Many good horses are entered, including Rio Negro, Marlow, Coriander, Letchfield, and the Prelate. Entries are numbered up to 19.

The Washington handicap running race at a mile and a half also has several good ponies entered among the total of 17. Mountain King, Allied King, Rouble, Kings Cross, Thomas A. Becket, Conquerer Dahlia and Sidelight are a few of the best.

The final race, another handicap is for griffins of the Autumn meet. Kobe, Tongoland, Roseleaf and Paddison appear to have the following.

The list of races follows:

1.—The Tennessee Hurdle Race—Seven Furlongs.
2.—The Kentucky Handicap Steeplechase—Over Morriss' Water Jump, Twice Round and In.
3.—The New York Cup—Three-Quarters of a Mile.

S'hai City And School XI's Meet On Thanksgiving

Feature Match Of Season Will Be Tag Affair For Costume Funds

The Thanksgiving American football game, the classic of American fall sports, will be played this year between a fast, well trained eleven of light Shanghai Football Club members and the heavier team of the Shanghai American School.

The game will be a benefit for both teams, with the well known "tag" in evidence at about $2.00 per tag, the proceeds of which will be split fifty-fifty between the School Football fund and the empty treasury of the Football club. The proceeds will be used by either team to purchase costumes for the elevens.

The Thanksgiving game, it is believed at this writing will be staged in the morning, perhaps at 10 o'clock. With the School and the City eleven drawing their usual big followings, it is confidently felt among those promoting the match that sufficient funds will be realised from tag sales to clothe both elevens in respectable togs, a thing which up till now has been impossible to do.

There will be no match this afternoon. Capt. Cy. Wilhoit, with three or four new light men in training, and Coach Van Hook of the School with a new offensive and changed lineup under trial both felt it better that the two elevens should not meet until the big game on the Holiday. Wilhoit now has a team that does not exceed 150 lbs, and the School has picked up in average weight in the changed lineup until weights are about even for the coming game. Both clevens are working hard to perfect themselves in the most effective ormations and tactics.

The Naval Yacht Isabel, recently arrived from Philadelphia is not prepared as yet to get into football. The crew is occupied in putting things ship-shape on the boat; they are not even yet acquainted; they have never been on the field together, and could not get into shape for Thanksgiving.

It is expected however that within two weeks games may be had with both the Isabel and the Tracy. Herby Gallop boarded the Yacht yesterday morning for some definite understanding as to the Navy's football availability, and he came away with the foregoing information.

The City team practices again tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock on the Baseball Field. All members or candidates of the squad are invited to come out for the drill.

HARRIERS TRAIN THIS AFTERNOON FOR BIG MEETING

Members of the Shanghai Harriers Club will meet at the Shanghai American School this afternoon at 3 o'clock for a training run, in preparation for the big track meet scheduled for Nov. 26 at Hongkew Park at which five championship races will be run.

Captain C. C. Reneman will take the track men in charge, and a cross country team will be sent out for a short run in the Kiangwan district. The running will be at a slow pace with no racing allowed.

Entries for the open championships and handicaps close Monday evening. Filings may be made with Mr. T. McKenna, care International Mixed Court until 6 p.m. Monday.

A valuable set of prizes are offered for the various events to be run on Nov. 26 at Hongkew, and with a large entry list assured, and a fast track it is certain that previous times will be beaten, as all previous Shanghai championships have been competed for on grass tracks.

Messrs. McKenna and Ling of the Police who have the arrangements in hand with other able officials assisting are extending

U-BOAT ONLY A DEFENSE

London, Nov. 17.—An explanation of the paradox disclosed by the American disarmament proposals to increase submarines while Great Britain strongly favors numerical reduction and limitation in size is found in the fact that American naval opinion regards these craft not as a weapon of offense but of defense, eminently suitable for the protection of a long coastline.

On the other hand, the British think that if the program is not carefully guarded there will be serious developments in submarine warfare which would nullify the benefit of suppressing capital ships

GIVE KATO TIME

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Nov. 17.—The heads of the nine delegations have granted Admiral Baron Kato's request to allow him several days in which to examine the Chinese proposals.

It is stated that the British Committee on the Pacific questions is functioning vigorously and has discussed the future of mandated islands. It is suggested that Japan is preparing to offer concessions by opening the former German islands north of the equator. The American view maintains that the principle of the open door ought to be observed in these islands.

CHINA QUESTIONS NEXT

Washington, Nov. 17.—The following communique is issued today:

The sub-committee dealing with procedure on the Far Eastern questions, consisting of the heads of the delegations, has decided to recommend that opportunity be given to the full committee for a general discussion first of Chinese questions and afterwards of other topics. The Chinese proposals will be considered seriatim.

SHIDEHARA IS ILL

Washington, Nov. 17.—The meeting of the committee of nine dealing with the Far East has adjourned until Saturday owing to the illness of Baron Shidehara.

FRANCE'S CHINA POSITION

Washington, Nov. 17.—The American delegates, endorsing China's proposals, consider that the Far Eastern questions are not technical, requiring expert scrutiny, and therefore urge the Committee or full Conference to consider them directly without reference to sub-committees.

The French attitude with regard to China's proposals may be summed up as follows:

1.—France desires to help China to realise her territorial, political and commercial aspirations.

2.—France is willing to cede Kwangchouwan, provided Britain cedes Weihaiwei and Japan Shantung and the Port Arthur peninsular.

3.—France is not unwilling to surrender extraterritorial privileges, provided the other Powers do likewise but is of the opinion that these privileges should be maintained until it is clear that China is able to give adequate protection and justice to foreigners.

4.—France urges that Indo-China belongs to Annam and therefore does not enter the discussion but France is willing to discuss frontier rectifications.

5.—France, desiring to play a conciliatory role, sympathises with Japan's need for expansion and raw material.

6.—France favors open dealing between China and the Powers, and opposes secret negotiations. She would abandon her interests in Yunnan, provided Britain abandoned hers in Kwangsi.

BRIAND'S SPEECH FRANK

Paris, Nov. 17.—The special correspondent of the Petit Journal states that the event of the day was the speech by M. Briand which made a great impression. M. Briand was faithful to his policy of frankness, of which France gives an example because she has nothing to conceal. He approached the problem squarely and will place all the documents before the eyes of the delegates and will not leave Washington without the Conference having recognised in good faith the rights of France.

The special correspondent of the Petit Parisien emphasises that in a few simple words M. Briand showed that a policy of frankness did not fear daylight. He did better still and one could have believed that his intention was when the moment came, to explain purely and simply this policy, without wishing to add to it a plea even an indirect one, in favor of guarantees. This excellent speech was precisely that which ought to be made to the American people.

The special correspondent of the Petit Parisien shows that an alliance, or even only an understanding, implying permanent obligations, with any Power is inconceivable in present conditions. He formally denies the report that M. Briand had offered to Mr. Hughes, with a view to a political alliance, the use of naval bases in Indo-China.

JAPAN HAS OBJECTIONS

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Nov. 18.—Admiral Baron Kato has announced Japan's acceptance of the Chinese proposals as "a basis of discussion in committee," and has also announced that Japan, owing to her geographical position, will request such modification of the naval limitation program as will permit her to maintain a general tonnage slightly exceeding the proposed 60 percent of that of Britain and America, and the right to maintain her tonnage (in a type of vessel of strictly defensive character) approximating that of Britain and America. This term does not include submarines.

Baron Kato, in a subsequent interview with press representatives, said that he could give no further details regarding the modifications which the Japanese would submit on naval armaments, declaring that this was a matter for Conference discussion. It was understood, however, that a slightly greater general tonnage was desired so as to include the Mutsu and that the type of defensive vessels referred to was light-cruisers suitable for policing the Oriental waters against pirates.

Admiral Kato added that he had no views to express regarding the tonnage of submarines until he was able to read and study the British proposals. He expressed his hope to take up the matter of the abolition of submarines, poison gas and similar instruments of warfare in the Conference.

WOULD CLEAN UP CHINA

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 18.—The London correspondent of the Chicago Tribune yesterday interviewed Baron Hayashi, the Japanese Ambassador, who said that Japan intended to press for joint English, American and Japanese action to restore order and reestablish unity in China. He thought that friendly joint intervention might be necessary and if military force were needed, China should herself supply it.

It should, however, be made clear that there was no intention to invade Chinese territorial integrity and if force were necessary to help China to her feet it would only be an extension of the present principle under which there were small foreign forces in Peking and Tientsin and on the Yangtsze.

He agreed that the idea might not appeal to China who might regard it as foreign control but an effort must be made to overcome any objections and to make it clear that they would immediately withdraw when China was united and orderly.

Baron Hayashi declared that the value of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance was now chiefly moral and the Japanese aim was united action in China, in which they hoped that America would co-operate, but if the Treaty were renewed it must be made perfectly plain that it was in no way aimed for use as a military force against America.

FRANCE SPEAKS MONDAY

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Nov. 17.—M. Briand will leave for France on November 25 on board the Paris. On Monday the French Premier will explain France with regard to naval and land disarmament.

The newspapers understand that the Premier will announce that France, having rebounded her natural frontier on the Rhine, is forced to maintain her army to guard an insufficiently defended frontier.

The land forces of France are necessary in the presence of a hostile Germany. M. Briand will then ask the Conference to recognise formally hat her security commands France to preserve her present army.

This morning the chiefs of the delegations met in committee to decide whether discussion should take place on the memorandum submitted by the Chinese delegation or whether is was better to follow the order of questions provided at the convocation of the Conference.

The newspapers state that in a general way France wishes sincerely to aid China in the pacification of her country and in her economic rise, for the policy of France is not to separate to rule.

France, owing to its position in Indo-China, desires peace in the Pacific. Moreover France with her sentiments of justice, is sympathetic with the incontestable need for expansion of Japan, of the raw materials necessary to crown her prodigious industrial development.

PARIS HAS ITS DOUBTS
BY WYTHE WILLIAMS
(Trans-Pacific Public Ledger—China Press Exclusive Service)

Paris, Nov. 17.—The opening of the Disarmament Conference at Paris has been followed with intense interest by the press of Paris. There has been a marked amount of blunt comment on the opening sessions.

The majority of non-partisan journals draw high hope from the good feeling evidenced so far. Some, however, are cynical. Culman, the well-known writer for "Petit Bleu," says that France will probably make a moral alliance with America, meaning that little of practical merit will be accomplished.

"We are under no illusions", he writes. "We are isolated alone, have against us Germany, England, and part of Italy. Therefore, what value is even a moral alliance with a nation where they have millions of Germans who have the biggest financial enterprises and the leading journalists as their propaganda agents."

"Figaro" is pessimistic, and in an article asserts that war between Japan and America is not only possible but probable and political hostilities have already begun. Therefore, the conference has been called with a view to "to examining the attitudes of other powers represented."

CHINESE ARE RESENTFUL

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Nov. 18.—The decision of the Conference to consider China's case before proceeding to other points has caused some surprise, but it is recognised that many ultimate problems closely connected with China cannot well be settled before her case is thoroughly reviewed and regularised.

In discussing the Chinese memorandum with the Chinese delegates, Reuter's correspondent was informed that on the whole they were pleased with the reception accorded it, though they somewhat resent what they term the crop of surmises and illogical deductions which it has aroused in the American press.

China in presenting such a broadly modelled document wished to avail herself of the opportunity to define clearly her position in regard to the other powers.

China's aim at present was to raise and restore China as a Republic to her proper and equal place among the nations. The delegates expressed the opinion that once the principles in the memorandum were recognised memorandum recognised their their consequence could be developed gradually.

China was in no hurry to put into effect the stipulations contained therein, but hoped first to settle her internal affairs supported by added prestige in the comity of nations. There is no doubt that the delegates expect France and Great Britain to suggest modifications of the proposals.

The impression gained by Reuter's correspondent was that such suggestions would be received in a willing and sympathetic spirit provided that the broad lines of the policy were acceptable.

JAPAN ON THRESHHOLD

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 18.—An account of Mr. Hughes' speech at the opening of the Far Eastern Committee says that he suggested extenuating circumstances for China's present position owing to the recent change in form of Government.

He recalled in this connection America's dishevelled condition after the Revolution and before all the States had accepted the present Constitution.

Upon the principle of the open door, he is reported to have said that when it opened Japan would stand on the threshhold and would be the first to profit under the system of equal opportunity.

CANTON NOT PLEASED

Washington, Nov. 18.—Mr. Ma Soo, Dr. Sun Yat-sen's representative in the United States, describes the Peking Delegation's proposals as being distinctly disappointing.

He declared that the Chinese wanted action which would lead to the restitution of Chinese rights, particularly the return of Shantung, Manchuria, Innner Mongolia and Tibet, the abrogation of the well-known 21 Demands, the 1918 Agreement and the series of Sino-Japanese secret treaties, the renunciation of obnoxious spheres of influence and the withdrawal of foreign garrisons.

Albania — Yugo-Slav Dispute Taken Up By Nations' League

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Nov. 17.—The Council of the League of Nations at a public sitting today under the presidency of M. Leon Bourgeois heard the British representative, Mr. Fisher, who formulated the complaints of Albania against Yugo-Slavia.

The Yugo-Slav representative, M. Boadowitch, replied that the Yugo-Slav troops had not passed the frontier fixed by General Franchet d'Esperey at the armistice. M. Bourgeois stated that the two countries should submit to the decision of the Council of Ambassadors, against which Yugo-Slavia is raising protests.

SPANISH PRESS SCORES CABINET

(French Wireless Through Reuter)

Paris, Nov. 17.—The Temps learns that public opinion and that of the press at Madrid are unanimous in condemning the Maura Cabinet and those who are to blame for the denunciation by France of the modus vivendi.

It is considered that this attitude has decided the Maura Cabinet to admit the urgence of the negotiations which were refused a month ago.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is particularly a preparation for Infants and Children made agreeable to the taste, acceptable to the stomach and pleasant in its action. It has been in use for over thirty years and has always been one of the most highly esteemed of all cathartic preparations. It has one great advantage over other preparations of its kind in that while it opens the organs readily and completely, it does not have a tendency to produce subsequent constipation so much to be dreaded.

It was only after years of research in the fields of herbs and roots for a combination of purely vegetable matter that would have all the virtues of Castor Oil, without its disagreeable, nauseating properties, especially when used for infants or children, that the formula used in Fletcher's Castoria was found, and which for over 30 years has proven its worth. Try it.

Save the Babies.

Infantry mortality is something frightful. We can hardly realise that of all the children born in ivilised countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one quarter die before they reach one year, thirty-seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one half before they are fifteen! We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestion, sickness, death. To avoid any possibility of giving your child opiates, or narcotics of any kind, keep Fletcher's Castoria in the house, and Save the Babies.

MILLION DOLLAR MEDICAL SCHOOL PLANS ADVANCED

Plans for the organisation and equipment of a Union Medical School in Shanghai, with a total investment of $1,000,000 for buildings and equipment, are in the hands of a committee delegated from the universities and colleges in East China.

The object of the school, according to Dr. J. C. McCracken of St. Luke's hospital, will be to afford a completely equipped medical school in Shanghai district, drawing its students from the several universities.

Some time ago the Rockefeller Institute made a tentative offer of a medical school in Shanghai, but this offer was later withdrawn and all of the activities of the Institute centered in Peking.

The Union School, as advanced in its present plan would be financed by the universities in the district, who would be thus relieved of the heavy expense of maintaining individual medical departments, according to Dr. McCracken.

"The courses given in the best medical colleges in Europe and America would be followed very closely here, and in fact the whole plan of the school is similar to any of the so-called affiliated medical schools in America."

The committee who have charge of the preliminary arrangements are endeavoring to interest the Chinese medical fraternity and the various foreign medical organisations in the successful operation of the college, but according to the members it will be some time before any definite scheme can be presented.

St. John's University, together with the Shanghai College, Soochow University, Nanking University, Hangchow College, and the various hospitals in Shanghai have been active in the organisation plan.

NEED CLOTHING FOR DISCHARGED PATIENTS HERE

Patients are being discharged from the wards of St. Luke's Hospital almost every day without clothing enough to keep them warm. Many of these patients came in while the weather was warm and the clothing they wore when admitted, even in cases where it was not torn at the time of injury, is far too thin for them to go out in, at this time of the year.

The hospital cares for these men free of charge in nearly all cases, but has no funds for providing clothing for discharged patients. It has occurred to some of the members of the staff that if this need of warm clothing for Chinese men and boys were made known, there might be some in Shanghai who would like to help.

If any one who has clothes to give will send a postal card to St. Luke's Hospital, 12 Seward Road, a messenger will call for them. Two dollars will buy one suit of clothes and forty cents will provide bed and food outside for one day until the man can find work. Gifts sent to the hospital for this purpose will be carefully used.

PLAN TO FORCE GERMANS TO PAY WITHOUT DELAY

BY SEYMOUR B. CONGER
(Trans-Pacific Public Ledger—China Press Exclusive Service)

Berlin, Nov. 17.—The reparations commission is maintaining silence, but it is learned that it will not consider a proposition for revision of the reparations provisions of the Versailles treaty or a moratorium for a year or two, but will only study the possibilities of forcing or enabling Germany to meet the January payments.

France, and Belgium are both adamant against reduction or revision of the reparations clauses, while the British advocate some form of relief for Germany.

Premier Wirth held a conference with Stinnes before seeing the commission. Stinnes is unyielding in the demands which he has made for conditions on which German industry shall pledge its credit for a loan. The government must restore industry to private control and enact a business reform of officialdom if the loan is to be secured, he says.

AMERICAN MAILS BY HOOSIER STATE CLOSING TONIGHT

The Pacific Mail liner Hoosier State is due to reach Woosung this afternoon and sails for San Francisco via Japan ports and Honolulu tomorrow. The tender with outgoing passengers and mails will leave the Customs jetty at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Mail for America by the Hoosier State will be closed at the United States Post Office at 6 p.m. today, for both ordinary and registered matter. The Post Office is expecting to handle a big Christmas mail for this ship. The Hoosier State is scheduled to reach San Francisco on December 7.

Chinese Creditors Of French Bank Form Association

Income Tax Law Now Is Explained

Consul-General Cunningham has received from the Department of State an excerpt from a communication from the Treasury Department in reference to payment of income tax by citizens of the United States resident abroad as follows:

"It was not the intention of the framers of the present income tax law to include provisions which would have a tendency to cause American resident abroad to give up their American citizenship The law as now framed required that such persons file a return if they have a taxable income as defined therein and to compute the amount of tax due upon such income. The law permits of the crediting against the amount of tax found due of the amount of any income taxes paid during the taxable year to any foreign country upon income from sources therein (see Section 222 of the Revenue Act of 1918). This credit was intended to relieve American citizens resident abroad from double taxation."

The word "paid" in the foregoing is defined to mean "paid or accrued." Section 222 of the Act of February 24, 1918, upon which the foregoing is based may be consulted in the office of the American Consulate-General.

Bank Swindlers Go To Trial In January

The trial of the Japanese swindlers concerned with the alleged fraudulent manipulations of letters of credit on the local Yokohama Specie Bank will be held in Tokio during January, according to the Japanese Vice-Consul here, Mr. Kurihara.

Mr. Kurihara said yesterday that he had received no definite date of the trial, and it is believed that further investigations are being made by the Japanese authorities here and in Japan.

"I think the sum involved in the swindle was about Yen 2,000,000," Mr. Kurihara said, "but inasmuch as I am not familiar with the evidence in the case I could not give the details of the crime."

The vice-consul intimated that very strict orders had been issued from the authorities in Tokio to hold the evidence secret until the time of the trial.

Foreign Interest Claimed By Chinese Scored By Assessor

The penchant of Chinese defendants, growing more marked all the time, for going to foreign Consulates and obtaining registry when confronted with court action came in for a scoring by British Assessor Blackburn in the Mixed Court yesterday.

The Court's ire was roused when Chuen Wai-sung, a broker charged with having wrongfully obtained a number of stock exchange shares from a man of unsound mind, entered the plea of 'Spanish interests" and claimed the rights of one registered at the Spanish Consulate.

Mr. L. K. Kentwell, appearing for the defendant, stated that his client had a certificate of registration. Mr. Foo, representing the complainant, asked that the Court proceed with the case. The registration certificate, he declared, had only been issued on November 10.

"I am helpless," Assessor Blackburn said. "The accused is registered at the Spanish Consulate and we cannot proceed with the case. This is the second instance of this nature within the last few days."

Mr. Kentwell protested that his was the first case in which he had claimed foreign interests.

"I'm not blaming you," replied the Assessor. "It is the fault of the Spanish Consulate. It is a scandal. As soon as these people learn that a complainant is after them they go register at a foreign Consulate and get protection."

The Court then ordered the defendant detained until Mr. Foo could obtain a warrant at the Spanish Consulate.

A report of the case, with the dated certificate of registration is to be forwarded to the Consular Body.

Must Pay For Wine Is Court's Decision In Joy-Ride Case

Nicholas Lessen, a former Russian Army officer, appeared yesterday before the Mixed Court to answer a charge which included various unusual offenses—mainly the wrongful appropriation of 36 bottles of champagne belonging to Mr. O. Katz. Lessen presented the novel excuse that he was a victim of "amnesia," otherwise known as shell-shock and said in short that he "forgot."

British Assessor Hutchison and Magistrate Loh after listening to the evidence of the wild part which followed the popping of Katz' wine, issued a sharp reprimand to Lessen and released the former officer on the condition that he pay for the champagne—valued at $66.

Dr. Fitch Lectures On China's Progress

Dr. Robert Fitch, of Hangchow, gave an illustrated lecture before the American University Club last night describing the geographical and racial development of China.

Dr. Fitch said in part that the Chinese had succeeded in the face of very great difficulties, in building and maintaining unusual improvements. He mentioned the work of Li Bin, who constructed canals in Szechuen about 2,000 years ago.

The lecture was illustrated with about 30 lantern slides and will be followed on next Monday by a lecture at the Country Club on Hangchow and vicinity.

FRONT'S THE THING

The stock exchange game isn't the only one that allures the suckers. Recently Yui Yoong-sung opened an establishment on Nakhoi Road and all who were invited to view it were immensely impressed. The apparently extensive stock, however, consisted of empty cigarette packets and tins and an egregious number of packages of ostensible merchandise which, if opened, would have been found to contain large numbers of old newspapers. The cash drawer was also ostensibly congested with takings. Had the wrappings been removed it would have been seen that the supposed rolls of silver coin were nothing more than lengths of bamboo.

On the strength of the display Yui secured from Woo Foh-ding 230 dozen handkerchiefs. What he secured from other dealers is not known. But when Woo came to collect he found Yui's place closed. He happened across Yui a day or so ago, however, and yesterday Yui appeared in the Mixed Court. The case was remanded for one week, during which time the police will endeavor to discover some of the other victims of Yui's display.

Harry Dudley Here At Del Monte Cafe

An added feature of interest to the patrons of the Del Monte Cafe will be the appearance of Harry Dudley, premier pianist of the Pacific Coast, who has just arrived as a recruit to the ranks of the entertainers at this popular Siccawei Road resort. He makes his first appearance here tonight.

Mr. Dudley was long the highest paid entertainer in San Francisco cabaret establishments. He was at Tait's for eight years and afterwards three years at Solari's famous cafe. Mr. Dudley brings with him the latest song successes and at the same time, according to announcement, he will render any old favorites that may be asked for.

Coal Market

Messrs. Wheelock and Company write as follows in their coal market report of yesterday.

JAPAN COAL

We have nothng fresh to add to our remarks of a fortnight ago as the negotiations for next year's supplies are still being carried on but it is expected that these will materialise in the course of the next few days.

FUSHUN COAL

No change.

FUCHUNG ANTHRACITE COAL

Here also negotiations are under way for next year's contracts and in the manwhile supplies are coming forward regularly and stocks on the spot are up to the average.

KAIPING COAL

As usual during the last few weeks of the year, buyers are little "wary" of committing themselves to large purchases whilst waiting for the following year's quotations. Freights are easier and some small reduction in price may be anticipated.

The Falling Marks

GERMANY'S AIM—not to speak of marksmanship—may not be to force the mark down to where it is practically worthless, but some of our editors are inclined to think that whatever the policy, the continual dropping serves Germany's purposes. For one thing, Germany's financial plight helps to demonstrate her inability to keep up reparations payments. For another she is enabled by the exchange situation to produce more cheaply and thus sell more cheaply than her competitors in foreign markets. And then, too, the extreme cheap of the mark has tempted many Americans to invest good American dollars in them, to the advantage of German bankers. The tremendous depreciation of the mark, caused largely by the continued issuance of paper money, holds a warning for us, contends the Philadelphia Inquirer, for it must "eventually result in a catastrophic collapse whose repercussions will be felt throughout the world."

Unless something effective is done to stay the present rush toward financial chaos in Germany and Eastern Europe, similarly declares Forbes, a financial weekly, "the final upshot can not but hurt American commerce, American agriculture, and American pay envelopes." On the other hand, the Springfield Republican, is convinced that if a financial crash comes in Germany "its international effect may not be at all catastrophic, because Germany has been so far self-contained since 1914."

The German mark, normally worth 23.8 cents, dropped in value to less than ten cents after the close of the war and since then has continued to decline, falling to less than four-fifths of a cent. This decline has been paralleled by an increase in circulation of paper marks. Today, as the editor of The Financial World notes, Germany possesses, roughly speaking, only one mark in gold to cover 90 marks in paper at present in circulation. Germany's currency position is set down as follows by this authority:

In 1911 Gold Reserve totaled ..	$251,750,000
On Aug. 27, 1920, Gold Reserve totaled (marks)	1,091,585,000
On Sept. 7, 1921, Gold Reserve totaled (marks)	1,023,708,000
July 25, 1912, German outstanding notes (marks)..	1,044,260,000
July 25, 1914, German outstanding notes (marks)..	1,890,393,000
Aug. 27, 1919, German outstanding notes (marks)	28,188,000,000
Sept. 7, German outstanding notes (marks)	80,727,526,000

By the end of September, several financial papers note, Germany's note circulation had reached 82,178,940,000 marks, and is now probably near ninety billions.

There is a strong belief in this country, France and Germany, "that by the activity of their printing presses, the rulers of Germany are deliberately hatching a scheme to embarrass their former enemies and victors and repudiate their indemnity promises." But though reporting this belief, The American Banker does not share it, feeling that the mark is simply following the natural trend of the international money market. Whatever the explanation, comments the New York Herald, "each depreciation works in favor of Germany industrially, but further threatens her cash payments to the Allies on reparations account." As the Baltimore Evening Sun explains how industrial Germany profits by the present plight of the mark:

"Suppose, for example Herr Klockner manufactures a machine which he can quote at 1,000 marks paper. This machine he can offer in the United States today at about $8. If the mark rose to one cent, he would have to charge $10; if it went to ten cents he would have to charge $100. Thus he can undersell his competitors. Ergo, he has his chance to edge in.

"Now, of course, this state of affairs cannot go on interminably. The value of the mark cannot approach zero so closely that, to all intents and purposes, it vanishes into thin air. When Herr Klockner, for instance, has to buy raw materials from other countries he will have to pay such prices that he will no longer be able to offer his machine for 1,000 marks.

"But, after all, if his main object was to regain his lost markets by putting his competitors out of them to a greater or less extent, he has succeeded. And the reason he is able to get back is because the exchange value of the mark is so unfavorable."

The recent "nose dive" of the German mark, as some one has called it, is taken by several editors as a demonstration of the way German financiers have fooled American investors and speculators. Germany financed its war "partly through fiat currency;" now, observes the Troy Record, "If a part of this debt could be shifted to fools in America by selling the paper to them and repudiating it later, no one could complain except the fools." At home in Germany, says The Financial World, "the true intrinsic value of the mark was understood," but—

"Among our large German population, to which must be added a considerable number of American speculators, there was discovered an immense buying power for marks. The German printing press was kept busy supplying the demand from nine cents, the price of the mark at the time the armistice was signed, to lower quotations recently. Now that the mark has dropped to under a cent this buying has stopped, and American holders are wondering what is coming, and fear the worst."

Germany has profited at the expense of Americans who, according to a writer in the New York Times, have invested perhaps $100,000,000 in German marks at an average price of two and a half cents. At the present price of the mark they have lost 60 cents on every dollar, and there "stand the German printing presses grinding away ceaselessly." Germany, comments The Wall Street Journal, has probably by now "repudiated the mark for the ninety billionth time at least"—

"And yet intelligent people are asking if the mark is a 'buy,' on the theory that the mark will once more be worth par in American money at some time in the future. How many have stopped to think that Germany would have to raise $21,438,000,000 to redeem 90,000,000,000 marks at the old gold par?"

According to these papers and others, American holdings of German marks are practically worthless. But Mr. Hearst's New York Evening Journal advises:

"Be careful how you sell German money or anything else German. When they get raw materials and straighten out their affairs you might wish you had 'gone long' instead of 'short'!"

Northcliffe Urges Closer Relations Between U. S. And Britain

beginning at Boston Harbor, culminated in the great victory of Washington's army at Yorktown.

"The influx of many diverse nationals into the United States has not weakened the fibre of the British stock, which has spread westward from Plymouth in the north and from Jamestown in the south. To this day among the chiefs of the Federal Government of Washington it is rare to find any other than British names.

"With the same common law, the same ideals, many games, and the same love of home-town and family, we still after three centuries are a very similar people.

"Never in history has there been a time when we should be closer together than at present. Here in the Far East our interests are identical. Neither of us desires any monopoly of power or commercial supremacy. Both desire fair play for China and the safety of those possessions which we guard in the interest of civilisation.

"At present at Peking there is what may appear from afar a kind of commercial earthquake but I doubt whether the wealth of China, the resultant of the toil of its 400,000,000 inhabitants, is likely to suffer a serious permanent blow in consequence of what is happening today. In any case it is a matter for the Chinese. Our aims are the uplift and stabilisation of China in order that she may take her place with the nations.

"The great Conference at Washington, to which for many months we have been looking forward with such expectancy, has not yet reached the stages when it is necessary for Anglo-American co-operation to display itself to the world. The United States, Canada, and thousands in Australasia are much concerned at the prolongation of the Alliance beyond the intentions of the original makers—the Alliance by which Japan has benefitted beyond her wildest dreams.

Before entering Japan, I thought it wise in view of the hospitality, which had been offered me by Japanese friends, to explain my exact position with regard to the Anglo-Japanese treaty.

"I said: During the last two years I have been gradually coming to the conclusion that the Anglo-Japanese Agreement has outrun its usefulness. Japan faithfully carried out her compact during the war and has been magnificently rewarded for her services. The purpose of the Washington Conference a meeting of equals—is to reach a mutual agreement but the United States is handicaped by an arrangement already made by Japan and Great Britain concerning China, the chief problem of the Pacific.'

"That statement did not meet with the protest which might have been expected from Japan. The organs of the military party did not appear to like it. Some newspapers, which pretend to be English but which are Japanese and conducted by the military party, did not like it. A number of newspapers publicly approved as much as they dared and many newspapers and people told me that they welcome anything that would rid them of the perpetual censorship under which the Japanese press lives. For the Anglo-Japanese Treaty, by strengthening the hands of the military controllers of the press, weakens the freedom of the Japanese newspapers.

"Japan seems to be in much the same position as Germany before the late war. Nominally a democracy, she is absolutely governed by four men, whose intentions may be judged by looking at the constantly changing map of the Far East and the immense expansion of Japanese armaments.

"That this military party is hostile to the United States can be gathered from many of their publications which are obviously approved by the four rulers of Japan. They have absolute power over the printing press.

"We took little notice of the threats of Bernhardi before the war and Americans are not worrying themselves much about 'If Japan and America fight' by the famous Japanese Lieutenant-General Sato or Hiramoto's 'Shall Japan and America fight?' or other dozens of such publications on the market.

"These works show lamentable ignorance of the United States, her economic power, her fleet and her capacity for raising armies. Moreover they display absolute ignorance of the state of feeling throughout Australasia, the near neighbor of Japan.

"These British people, as far as I can make out from contact with masses of them, detest the Anglo-Japanese Agreement as heartily as the Canadians. That the Anglo-Japanese Agreement has had the effect of strengthening the military party in Japan in its relations with the United States and even with Britain is obvious to those who follow events.

"During the last few months we have had intimations in the British Parliament that the Agreement was regarded with favor by the British Government. I trust that the British delegates at Washington realise by contact with our American friends that the Agreement is regarded, I think slightly, as hostile to the United States not by intention but in result.

"At this moment one rejoices to see that it looks as though President Harding's splendid effort for the reduction of armaments will succeed but reduction does not mean the absolute elimination of warfare. I believe that Britain at long last will abandon the Agreement in the interest of progressive Japan, in the interest of the United States and in our own interest, and the result will be a better understanding between the nations in the Pacific, Britain and America and particularly Australia.

"The Japanese war-books, to which I have referred, accurately represent of the military party of Japan. They constantly twit the United States with having no base in the Far East. They seem to regard Pearl Harbor as the nearest important American sea-station. When the Americans came to our assistance in 1917 there were certain bases in the south west of Ireland to which we were very glad to invite them. If at any time the United States is menaced in the Far East, if at any time her magnificent work in the Philippines is disturbed, is there any reason why Singapore should not be available for their fleets?

"It seems that our position is that Britain and America must hang together in the Far East or some time or other be hanged separately. Like, everyone I am eager that the delegates at Washington shall establish lasting peace in the Pacific and also for China.

"I believe that peace will be hastened and made as permament as possible by the continuous efforts of the Anglo-American Societies throughout the world. That there are trade disputes everywhere we know. American methods are somewhat hasty and do not always display the knowledge we have gained by experience in the Far East.

"The position is exactly the same as before the war when we went through a phase in Great Britain called 'the American invasion' of our trade. People said that we should be driven not only from the world's markets but also from our own but, as a matter of fact, British trade in no way suffered. I find, as I travel round the world, that John Bull, in spite of being a perpetual growler, is doing uncommonly well, and extremely well in such American outposts as the Philippines.

The trade disputes, prior to 1917, did not interfere with the union of hearts and fleets in 1917. With the Irish question out of the way and it is well on the way to it, I believe that the cordial Anglo-American handshake will result. I am glad to know that the Anglo-American Society in Peking is doing a not inconsiderable share towards that result."

BY JOSEF HALL
(Staff Wire To The China Press)

Peking, Nov. 17.—Lord Northcliffe's address today caused great comment everywhere here except in the British and American legation circles, which were silent, neither minister having attended the tiffin. In Northcliffe's statement of an intention to agitate an invitation to America to utilise Singapore as a naval base in the event the Philippine Islands were menaced there is believed to be an endeavor to convince the military faction of Japan of the futility of her hope of utilising Great Britain in a campaign against America.

Japan, he said, is absolutely controlled by militarists, who are as recklessly ignorant of the resources of their prospective opponents as was Germany before the war.

Northcliffe has a convincing personality. His logic is easily followed by ordinary minds. His throughts are phrased in simple terms as he dreads being misquoted, saying that he has suffered much at the hands of his brother journalists.

He will arrive in Shanghai at 10 p.m. Sunday and will sail for Hongkong at 11 a.m. Monday.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 15.—Lord Northcliffe will be the guest of the Minister of Foreign Affairs at luncheon at the Waichiaopu tomorrow. Mr. and Mrs. David Fraser are giving an At Home to meet Lord Northcliffe at the Peking Club tomorrow, November 16.

Near East Remains Breeding Place For Future World War

BY WARRE B. WELLS

The European War began in the Near East. The war is long over, but the Near East problem remains, and in it lie, perhaps, the seeds of new wars. One, but only one, aspect of it is raised in the note which the British representative at Moscow handed to the Soviet government on behalf of Lord Curzon, in which the British Foreign Secretary calls attention to a number of "flagrant violations" of the trade agreement concluded between Sir Robert Horne and M. Krassin nearly six months ago. Before the war the Near East problem centered in the Balkans. Now it has shifted across the narrow seas which divide the European and Asiatic continents and centers in Asia Minor.

Here still continues a little war—by comparison—which is a direct legacy of the European war. Greece refused to accept the terms of the Treaty of Sevres which ended the war between Turkey and the Allied powers and went to war with Turkey on her own account. The Pan-Hellenists claim that modern Greece is the rightful inheritor of all those territories, once part of the Eastern Roman Empire, of which Constantinople was the capital.

Of this war the Allied powers, apart from one or two half-hearted and ineffective offers of mediation, have officially washed their hands. But it is no secret that their offers of mediation were half-hearted and ineffective precisely because they backed different sides in the quarrel. With Italy more or less neutral, England has been disposed to sympathise with Greece, France and Turkey. Turkey, for practical purposes, means the Kemalist Nationalist government, with its seat at Angora, in Asia Minor. The "official" Turkish government at Constantinople is in the hands of the Anglo-French forces of occupation, has no control over the Kemalists and doesn't amount to a row of pins.

ACTIVELY AIDED GREEKS

On January 5, 1918, Premier Lloyd George declared that the Allies were not fighting for Thrace, which was all that remained after the Balkan war of Turkey in Europe, or for the home lands of the Turks, namely, Asia Minor. But Thrace was given sans phrase to the Greeks, and in April, 1919, a Greek landing, under the protection of British ships, was effected at Smyrna. Some shots were fired upon the Greeks, and massacres occurred. Later the strict neutrality of Britain in the Graeco-Turkish War was proclaimed. It was, however, a neutrality which admitted the Greek fleet to pass under the noses of British guns on the Bosphorus into the Black Sea. In Turkey itself it is believed that Britain has actively assisted the Greeks. But there is no proof of any kind that Britain has furnished government supplies or information to the Greek forces.

The fact remains that, due to the actions of the British government, England is regarded as an open enemy by the Turks and as a false friend by the Greeks. Critics of the government charge that it has fallen artistically between two stools; that its Near Eastern policy is jeopardising British interests throughout the entire Moslem East, and that its treatment of Turkey has driven her straight into the arms of the Bolsheviki.

That fear of Bolshevik influence at Angora largely explains the British government's anti-Turkish policy is clear from a passage in Lord Curzon's note to the Soviet government at Moscow. "His majesty's government," says the Foreign Secretary, "are fully aware of the real motives underlying the policy of the Soviet government in supporting the Turkish Nationalists and affording them considerable assistance in money and arms of every description." He proceeds to quote the report in June last of M. Stalin, president of the Eastern Section of the Third Internationale, that Turkey is to be regarded from the Soviet point of view as "the citadel of the Mahomedan world, representing the most serious threat to the power of Europe in general and the Entente in particular."

Critics of the British government's policy charge, however, that it is its own fault if Turkey has lent herself to Bolshevik influence and accepted Bolshevik support, because she has been given no inducement to resist the one and reject the other. They charge, too, that while in this direction British policy has had the worst results, it has at the same time caused unnecessary complications with England's allies.

France is scarcely to be suspected of any tendencies for the Bolsheviki, but despite the relations of Angora with Moscow she has pursued her traditionally Turcophile policy. She has sent more than one unofficial mission to Angora, and only last week the French Ambassador in London formally protested to the Foreign Office against General Harington's action in ordering the arrest of certain alleged Turkish conspirators at Constantinople. French opinion seems to hold that General Harington's initiative constituted de facto manifestation of British hegemony on the Bosphorus. On similar grounds the recent British naval demonstration at the Bosphorus was also resented.

Another opportunity now presents itself of ending the Greco-Turkish feud and at the same time of settling the whole Near Eastern question with all its complications and all its possibilities of future international mischief. Greece and Turkey have fought themselves to a standstill in Asia Minor. The recent Greek advance has been abruptly cut short before Angora, and the Greeks have been compelled to retreat. Very heavy casualties have been suffered on both sides. It has been throughout a campaign without prospect of decision. Individual victories were easy enough to win, for the Greeks had in all probability the better army. But Greek victories helped nobody except the Athens newspapers, for the price of the drachma has consistently fallen after each Greek success. The Turks have been able to retire further and further into the interior, forcing the Greeks to lengthen their lines of communication all the time. While organisation, locomotion, equipment were on the side of the Greeks, geography and history fought for the Turks. In such a campaign it is almost impossible to reach a decisive result, and the striking power of the Greeks was always likely to wear out before the resisting power of the Turks.

Sooner or later a settlement must be made which is based on something more solid than a temporary success on the field of battle. The inconclusive result of the battle for Angora is calculated to bring the two parties into a mood to consider a peace that would honestly seek to secure the rights of both sides. It is denied that Greece has appealed to the League of Nations at Geneva to mediate between herself and Turkey, but it is undoubted that unofficial approaches for mediation are being made by both. Mediation by the league would be of little practical account unless the Allied Supreme Council bound itself beforehand, as in the case of Upper Silesia, to accept and enforce the league's decisions, which in this case it might hesitate to do because of the potential liabilities involved from the military standpoint. But if the Supreme Council were willing once more to pledge itself to act upon the league's award mediation by the league would seem in many respects preferable, not least because the league could provide impartiality and disinterestedness in a board of arbiters in a degree in which the Supreme Council assuredly could not.

Athwart the background of the contest between Greece and Turkey in Asia Minor lies the sinister shadow of Soviet Russia. The settlement of the Asia Minor question, in the view of an authority on Near Eastern affairs communicated to The Tribune, cannot be undertaken without reference to the fate of the countries in the hinterland which lie even more nearly under that shadow. These countries are four—Georgia, Armenia, Azerbaijan and Northern Caucasus. They are known collectively as Caucasia. By its geographical position Caucasia is the bridgehead between Europe and Asia, a sort of halfway house on the great international route between East and West, connecting the Mediterranean and the Dardanelles by the shortest road with Central Asia, Persia and India.

These Caucasian states became, one by one, the victims of their northern and southern enemies of Moscow and Angora. But their occupation by the Bolshevik forces in conjunction with the Nationalist Turks has transformed Caucasia from a geographical expression into a potential political reality. The four states, which had been carrying on negotiations for a defensive alliance even before the occupation of their territories, have since established an understanding between themselves on the basis of an arrangement negotiated last June in Paris. The principal feature of the agreement is the creation of a customs for all the Caucasian states.

Travel 70 Years Ago

That veteran author, publicist and charming as well as thoughtful writer, Frederic Harrison, has given in two articles in The London Times his impressions of travel old and new, the old embracing journeyings of a leisurely character in France, Germany, Switzerland and Italy in the '40s and '50s of the past century, and the new visits to those countries in recent years. As Mr. Harrison reaches his ninetieth year this month, his reminiscences of travel cover seventy-five years—a longer retrospect than is given to most men.

He began his travels as a youth just fresh from Oxford and in "an era before the railways, before ugly new buildings and worse 'restorations,' before circular tours and colossal hotels," and, to a certain extent, he is able to take his readers of today back to time that seem so remote. His travels, moreover, were not only extensive in the countries mentioned, but continuous from year to year, in many cases, as he begins by telling us he spent the Autumns of 1845-6-7 in France in the homes of people with whom he was intimate.

"In 1851 I sailed up the Rhine, drove into the Black Forest, then was all over Switzerland, into Italy, and so to Paris in the Second Republic. In 1853 we drove about the Rhone country, and then all along the Riviera from Cannes to Genoa; and thence to Tuscany and Florence. In 1855 I was all over Lombardy and then to Verona and Venice; and I spent the Autumn of 1865 in Rome and the country around. Since then I have watched the 'progress'—may I say the vulgarising?—of Europe almost year by year. My last climb on the snow Alps was in 1914; my last visit to France was in 1915."

Certainly, if any one knows the countries of Southern Europe well it ought to be this indefatigable traveler, who in travel, as in other things, had the seeing eye and the understanding and remembering heart. Possibly many have seen as much of France, Germany, Switzerland and Italy as this nonagenarian writer, but not in the same observant, leisurely way. As to the general aspect of these countries seventy or seventy-five years ago he says:

"The charm was in the novelty, the quaintness, the Old World air of every new place. A Belgian town then was quite unlike any other; still more unlike was a Rhenish town. In Germany, the people, the habits, the buildings were in strong contrast to the Italian. France had, everywhere before the Empire, a pre-revolution, provincial aspect. Frenchmen were still the most gay, cheery, wittiest idealists in all Europe. In the '40s, partly in the '50s, even up to the savage war of 1870, the deep international hatreds and jealousies had not matured. French, Germans, English and Italians could talk pleasantly in trains, coaches or hotels. . . . The separate table, the 'reserved' coach, had not been installed. This gloom of national scorn and revenge had not settled upon Europe. We found a common enjoyment in all we met."

As to the actual changes by which travel has been, according to Mr. Harrison, "standardised" and "vulgarised," and cities and towns "brought up to date," he gives many examples, but it is pleasant to note that not all these transformations have been without at least some gain—a gain even from "vulgarisation," as in his concluding paragraph he says:

"In seventy years foreign travel has gained immensely in ease, in volume, in knowledge. Thousands now go where only tens could go then. Europe has been opened to the masses, made familiar to the least learned, to the most moderate purse. New worlds of beauty and of history have been revealed. . . . I write only to remind the traveling world how much has been sacrificed to their comfort and their gain."

On the whole, then, the reader and the tourist of today may congratulate himself on the changes in the past three-quarters of a century as respects foreign travel—changes which have made it possible for an American, for instance, to cover at least the ground Mr. Harrison did in his almost uncounted journeyings, spread over seventy years, in a few month's time. But of course, no comparison can be made as to the value of the impressions and observations made in the old, leisurely way and the modern express mode of travel, which Mr. Harrison compares, as regards its value and accuracy, to the view a bicycle rider might gain of a picture gallery by a ride through it.

Japanese Rap Son Of Chang For Going To Mukden Y.M.C.A.

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Nov. 16.—Brigadier-General Chang, son of General Chang Tso-lin, is leaving Mukden for a visit to Japan where he will be present at the autumn military maneuvers which are now being held. His trip is the result of urgent invitations on the part of the Japanese who at first hoped that the Mukden Warlord would visit their country, but being disappointed in this had to be satisfied with Chang junior and with General Chang Tso-siang, the chief of staff of Chang Tso-lin.

Brigadier-General Chang, who is a man of about 25, has shown marked American sympathies much to the chagrin and confusion of the Japanese officials in Mukden, and has contracted the bad habit, from a Japanese point of view, of hanging about the Y.M.C.A. in company with Americans. As he is a very capable man and shows many signs of potential power and the ability to carry on the control which his father now exercises, the Japanese are very anxious that complete sympathy should exist between them and Chang and undue American influence is not to their liking.

It is reported in fact that they remonstrated with Chang Tso-lin on this point and asked that his son be directed into Japanese rather than into American channels of influence, to which the general replied that he could not keep his son away from the Y.M.C.A. Failing to achieve their object by this attack they next insisted that the important brigadier-general visit Japan for the present military maneuvers. This request was acceded to with the result that Chang and the Chief of Staff are now on their way to Japan where they will remain a month.

In regard to the activities of Chang Tso-lin it is also reliably reported that he is very much in favor of the Pacific Conference and exceedingly interested in all that is happening at Washington. His interest in China's welfare as influenced by the conference has in fact taken the very definite form of a contribution of $100,000 toward the expenses of the Chinese delegation. He is confident that the position of the Chinese Republic will be improved by its participation in the conference but rather neglects the significant question of Chinese financial instability and resulting loss of prestige at the present moment.

REDS CASE AS U. S. SEES IT IS TOLD PEKING

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Nov. 16.—In connection with the Sacco-Vanzettie case which has aroused a great deal of comment, and in radical quarters a great deal of criticism, throughout the United States, Secretary of State Hughes has issued an official statement of the facts of the case and its relation with the Federal Government. According to this document the Sacco-Vanzetti case is entirely in the jurisdiction of the Massachusetts Courts and has been tried in entire keeping with the principles of justice always upheld by the courts of that state.

The official statement was thought necessary because of the criticism that the radical beliefs of the defendants were used against them and that through the influence of these opinions and the anarchistic activities of Sacco and Vanzetti an unfair decision was handed down by the jury.

DETAILS OF SLAYING

Following is the statement signed by Secretary of State Hughes as received at the American Legation in Peking.

"On April 15, 1920 the paymaster and the guard of the Slater and Merrill Shoe Company, South Braintree, were killed and the pay roll of G. $15,000 stolen by the murderers who escaped in a automobile. As a result of investigation Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti were arrested and indicted for murder.

"The trial was to have been held in December 1920 but at the request of the attorney for the defense was postponed to March 1921. The case was called on June 1, and was heard in the Superior Court of Norfolk Country, Dedham, Mass. The trial lasted until June 14 when the jury found the two defendants guilty of murder in the first degree which carries the death penalty in Massachusetts.

"At the opening of the trial the judge informed the counsel that no reference was to be made to the fact that Vanzetti had previously been found guilty of attempting highway robbery and was serving a prison sentence nor to the radical political or economic opinions of the defendants. The injunction was followed and the case tried on its merits.

SHOWS RADICAL ACTIVITIES

"Finally, counsel for the defense, it was believed for the purpose of turning attention from the murder or for propaganda reasons, brought out from the defendants their radical opinions, their activities among anarchists, their refusal to register under the Selective Service Act and their subsequent flight to Mexico.

"The State never at any time took advantage of these facts and the trial throughout was conducted in accordance to the high traditions of the Massachusetts courts. Counsel for the defense has now demanded a re-trial on account of technicalities and arguments are being heard. Charges of bribery of the jury by the State which have appeared in the foreign press are groundless. The Federal Judiciary has no connection with the case which is entirely in the hands of the Massachusetts courts."

Get Out Of Siberia Takahashi Tells Militarist Party

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Nov. 15.—The appointment of Viscount Takahashi to succeed Mr. Hara as Premier of Japan will have a very pronounced effect on the Japan-Chita negotiations, according to news from Japanese sources. The Yomuri, a well informed Japanese paper, states that at the first meeting of the cabinet of the new premier the whole question of the withdrawal of Japanese troops from Siberia was discussed and the decision was reached that the evacuation would begin as soon as suitable arrangements could be made with the Chita representatives.

Premier Takahashi has the reputation of being a very able and progressive leader. As Minister of Finance he was the only cabinet member capable of standing up against the late Premier Hara, and his stated policy for some time has been favorable to the withdrawal of the Japanese troops from Siberia.

Because of his relations with the Ministry of Finance his policy has at all times been one of regard for the economic condition of Japan and he has always opposed military or naval measures which in his opinion the country could not reasonably afford. For this reason his attitude in regard to Chita relations is not unexpected and news is expected from the Dairen Conference with a definite announcement as to the withdrawal of troops in the very near future.
